No flag but the Old Flag—the Red White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 16 1863

OUR WOUNDED SOLDIERS —We are far from the scene of the great fight in Virginia but every loyal heart in California is full of sympathy for those who are bleeding and suffering in the nation's cause It is impossible for us to contribute men to swell the ranks of the Union armies But we can do as we have done—provide ample medical attendance and medical stores for the victims of battle The National Sanitary Commission unquestionably needs additional contributions to render its agency effective We are wealthy peaceful and prosperous and can afford to give freely to the supporters of the noble work in which the Commission is engaged Let the Committees chosen for the purpose of receiving and collecting funds in our various cities and townships be promptly revived and loyal Californian will make a golden response to the appeal The patriotic liberality of our people has not been seriously strained by the contributions already made Think of it! Every dollar we give may save the life of a soldier who has been wounded in fighting our battles —Sacramento Union

The above applies with equal force to the loyal people of this State We trust it will not be unheeded, and that the stream of patriotic benevolence, which flowed so generously last fall from the Pacific coast to the battle-fields and hospitals of the Union army, will again and at once spring forth from the hearts of all. There are probably ten thousand new sufferers, who must be aided or die Every day during the summer, the number must increase Shall their death be required at our hands? Are we not, in this respect, our brothers' keepers?

The meeting of the ladies this afternoon, at the Methodist Church, in behalf of the sick and wounded, will not, we hope, be forgotten or neglected. It is time for the women of Portland to put their faith into their deeds We know their hearts are right, we trust their hands are ready

PUBLIC SENTIMENT IN GERMANY —Recent letters from Europe state that a feeling of strong hostility to the rebel States, and daily growing stronger, pervades the whole continent Among the Germans, especially, there is the most intense and hearty opposition to every expression of sympathy with the South Lately, bankers in some of their cities proposed to act as agents for the sale of the Confederate loan, but the announcement was hardly made, when crowds of their customers came upon them, and threatened to withdraw business entirely, if they did not cease all connection with so vile an institution as the Confederacy. They protested that they were only agents for banking houses in France and England, and had no other interest in the speculation; but this was not sufficient for the honest Germans, and the propositions to negotiate the rebel loan were re-called, and the bloody stuff sent back to its makers In all places, and by all classes, a feeling of sympathy for the Union is manifested, and earnest prayers offered and ardent hopes expressed that the day of our suffering and danger may speedily be ended, and followed by purer freedom and nobler prosperity than any nation hitherto has known.

NEW SCIENTIFIC WORKS —George Gibbs, formerly Collector of Customs at Astoria, and who is well known in the scientific annals of our Pacific domain, is now preparing a work on the Indian languages of California and the Northwest Coast, for the Smithsonian contributions to knowledge—which is a sufficient guarantee that it will be of a superior character. The work will include an Indian tribal map, with vocabularies and critical analysis of not less than 100 of our aboriginal idioms, which he has collected during a residence of over ten years in this State and to the north and also from the contributions of his friends Having served here in the Indian Department with the Railroad Surveys and the late Boundary Survey between British Columbia and the United States territories, under Commissioner Archibald Campbell, Mr Gibbs, with long devotion to the study of the Indian ethnology will be enabled to produce one of the best collated and compiled works of the kind yet attempted and which is looked for by the scientific world with much interest He lately edited an excellent grammatical essay on the language of the Yakama Indians of Washington Territory, written two or three years ago by the Rev M C Pandosy, who resided many years in that Territory as a Catholic missionary. This work was recently published by J G Shea of New York, in his Indian Linguistic Series, under the patronage of the Smithsonian Institute, as appears in their annual report for 1861

SERIOUS ACCIDENT —A serious accident occurred about dusk, on Thursday evening last at the Cascade A white man and two Indians were engaged in cordelling a flat boat over the rapids, and when near the upper end, the windlass or capstand suddenly gave way, precipitating all three into the water The white man fortunately caught hold of the windlass and after being carried down stream some two or more miles, was rescued One Indian was also rescued but the other was drowned The body of the drowned Indian was found the next morning bearing a large bruised mark on the head caused no doubt by the arms of the windlass striking him when it gave way.

RETURNED TO HIS OLD COMMAND —General Sigel has been returned to his old command of the 11th army corps

Special Despatch to the Oregonian

Indian Treaty at the Lapwai Agency

Lapwai Idaho Ter May 14th 1863

Fifteen Days Later

Your correspondent reached here yesterday, but as there is not a full commission here nothing has as yet been done about the Treaty Another Commissioner is needed to fill up the Treaty Board on the part of the whites but who he is or where he is to come from is not known by those present it is hoped, however that Governor Wallace will send another and supply the vacuum as he is also Superintendent of Indian Affairs for this territory There are at present but few Indians in attendance but smoke Signals have come there seemed to be considerable hustling among the Nez Perces, while I write the grand council will no doubt be

The Indians and about the Agency are in a high state of cultivation and abundant crops are confidently expected The saw mill on the Lapwai creek is in full blast ripping lumber from the ironwood lumber for rooms of the Government Fort and the Agency The Fort is situated about three miles, the Lapwai and is now garrisoned by six companies of Uncle Sam's troops who are to remain here until close of the Treaty when a portion of them will be sent to Boise to occupy a post in course of erection near the old Fort

It is here where the hostile prowling goes was put in motion on the Pacific Coast, and to day, I took a peep into the old log shanty in which the first preservative of all arms was first practiced in this far western land Discoverers or not here is very pleasant and beautiful, the wild flowers all in full bloom and contributing all fragrance which it is exhilarating and refreshing, as it is wafted to our appreciative olfactories on the gentle breeze of a pleasant summer eve — The houses of the Agency are situated in a pretty little valley, at the foot of which the beautiful Clearwater glides swiftly along

There are several Indian camps around the Agency all waiting for the grand pow wow that is to take place in a few days From the best information I can obtain, I am inclined to the opinion that ever things favorable for a successful treaty although there has been a disposition on the part of many white men to prejudice the interests of the Government favorably If the treaty should fail I look out for an Indian war which will put a stop to all mining operations for this season

On my way up from the Dalles I was surprised to see so many miners disembark at the Umatilla Landing, but I was informed that that was the best and most practicable route to the Boise mines at this season of the year, hence the rush that way

Should anything of interest occur, I will write you again in a few days Gov Gibbs is expected here next week, he having been invited to attend by Superintendent Hale

'LAWYER'

ODD FELLOW'S CELEBRATION IN SAN FRANCISCO —The oration on the occasion of the Odd Fellows celebration in San Francisco, May 6th, was delivered by J W Dwinelle Toward the close of it he remarked

But what mean this splendid array these gorgeous banners, these glittering uniforms? Is this an army going forth to battle? Are these the implements and decorations of war? Yes, my friends, it is a part of a great army 'Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war' It is a part of a great army yet its mission is not destruction, but peaceful and beneficent It wars against vice and human misery, and its victories are consolidated in social and domestic happiness And to day we commemorate not only the general success of the Order, but also its local success in California For here the seed sown by our Order in the general chaos which succeeded the conquest, has germinated and fructified, and yielded ripe fruit equally with the other germs of empire cast upon the same waters at the same time The single subordinate Lodge in formally established by five brethren in 1849 in an engine house on the spot where now stands the International Hotel, on Jackson street, has multiplied into 111 Lodges, with a brotherhood of 6,000 affiliated members and an annual revenue of 70 000 These are statistics which are never published in the newspapers, for as our Order never proselytes, so we never make a boastful parade of those numbers which it seems appropriate at this time to set forth More than this we commemorate the fact that with $100 000 of our funds, the brethren of our Order have purchased, adapted and adorned one of the most costly and tasteful edifices of our city, in the very center of its most valuable business property, which we have devoted to the purposes of our Order, including one of the most valuable libraries on the Pacific coast, to which every member of our Order has access free of charge Here we proudly plant ourselves, fondly counting upon that perpetuity which is accorded to good intentions crowned with success

EDWARD EVERETT —Edward Everett in his address before the Union Club of Boston lately, thus discusses some of the pretexts on which this country was plunged into civil war

Had the majority of the citizens of the cotton growing States desired to leave the Union which was notoriously not the case had they instead of "being precipitated into the revolution" by unscrupulous demagogues whose language I quote, by deliberate legislative acts or Conventions of the people called after mature public discussion of the question authentically announced that fact and their willingness to leave the United States the fortresses necessary to protect the navigation of the Gulf of Mexico and the mouth of the Mississippi river I have little doubt that a requisite majority of the States would have agreed to the open limits of the Constitution necessary to carry such an arrangement into effect—such as it was in a few years by a perfect unanimous consent still But this did not suit the ambitious leaders in the cotton growing States They well knew that no such expression of popular opinion could be obtained for the good reason that no such opinion existed They knew that a separation thus peaceably brought about would be an experiment as short lived as ephemeral They knew that the United States will stand half of and that the first revolution in domestic politics probably the next Presidential election would range to pluck from the mouth of the movement and bring back home among States to the Union Thus they knew that they felt this themselves confessed They did not wish to be all will to go in peace

All professions to that effect are delusive and hypocritical It was on the wicked purpose of bring the Southern heart by the shedding of blood that arresting the border States to take part with the cotton States and which was of equal importance as drawing and stirring opposition in them that Fort Sumter was attacked If on the meet of this conspiracy are the lives to be put in mind the cotton pendent that pass between Richmond Charleston and Montgomery in that insidious winter of 1860 I what I now affirm will be found in black and white In truth it was substantially avowed in the columns of the Charleston journals and in the speeches of the demagogues who are sent from Virginia to fan the flames of treason

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to May 9th.

CHICAGO May 10th —Not a word has been received up to this time either confirming or contradicting the Philadelphia report of last night as to the capture of Richmond The reports still prevail in this city but full credit should not be given it until further information on the subject is received

NEW YORK May 10th —The Tribune correspondent says the Stoneman raid particulars are about as follows Hawsh left Grant crossed to the Orange and Alexandria road where they met two rebel regiments after a skirmish the rebels retreated towards Gordonsville Gen Buford crossed the Rappahannock Most of the cavalry followed Gen Stoneman and the Rapidan Bridges were destroyed with the exception of the Rapidan bridge Hawsh's command destroyed a portion of the railroads for several miles

Another detachment under Col Wyndham proceeded to James River and destroyed two locks and dams and a large quantity of commissary stores Attempts were made to destroy the railroads but were unsuccessful Several splendid horses were taken A part of the cavalry reached the river below Richmond Rejoined the main body after destroying locks and dams and set on fire the bridges across James river Gen Grey's brigade forward on the Pamunkey road Sheridan's division with the depot of the army wagons, provisions and telegraph And an escort was sent to burn the bridges across the South Anna, both of which were strongly guarded A portion of Stoneman's force under Kilpatrick moved east towards the Central railroad and destroyed the bridge over the South Anna They captured a train of cars

On the 6th Gen Hampton with two brigades, attacked Col Mann of the 5th Cavalry on picket duty His charge was met by a countercharge and the rebels were temporarily repulsed, but rallied and captured 17 of our men A retrograde movement was then commenced and the whole brigade arrived at Kelly Ford on the morning of the 7th Our whole loss was two killed, 17 wounded and 17 taken prisoners

The negroes joined the columns in flocks and begged to be taken home They everywhere gave us valuable information, and acted as guides at several points

NEW YORK, May 10 —The Herald's Washington dispatch says it is reported that Gen Lee sent a flag of truce asking supplies for the federal wounded stating that his army was deficient and communications with his sick at supplies cut off

CAIRO May 10th —Gen Grant has sent 1,900 prisoners to Milliken's Bend Part of his force, when last heard from, were within 20 miles of Jackson His men carried rations for several days

It is reported that the railroad bridge over the Big Black river has been destroyed, thus cutting off the rebels from Vicksburg

MURFREESBORO, May 9th —The news from rebel sources, to-night, say that Col Streight, who left here three weeks since, was captured with 1 700 men It is stated that he advanced as far as Rome, Georgia, destroying the railroad bridges much property and the large iron works on the Coosa, but in falling back he was assailed by the enemy, who were greatly superior to him in numbers. He had five battles with them and was finally compelled to surrender

PHILADELPHIA, May 10 —The Washington correspondent of Forney's Press says that it is understood that Gen Buell with eight brigades, penetrated the Allegheny Ridge Western Virginia and that he is now returning, having destroyed the Richmond and Tennessee railroad at several places He captured many prisoners and gained much valuable information. He burned large quantities of the stores of the rebel army in the south and west Pleasanton's cavalry crossed the river and proceeded immediately to the front for the purpose of reconnoitering the enemy's position Two hours ride brought them to our old position near Chancellorsville

In this neighborhood no rebels were found except the dead and wounded. The dead were buried properly and as rapidly as possible A considerable number of stragglers and skulkers from the rebel ranks and some of our men came into our lines and gave themselves up The former protested that they had no feeling in this war and were willing to take the oath of allegiance

NEW YORK May 11 —The Tribune thinks the position in Virginia is as follows Our forces at Suffolk and the Peninsula made a demonstration on Richmond early last week It was apprised that the rebel Capitol must fall without prompt support from his army and he had already begun to send troops towards Richmond on Thursday last Lee resumed one day with a good part of his force was well on his way to Richmond on Thursday Hooker, with his army freshly provisioned crossed the Rappahannock Friday night He found but a screen of pickets in front—no enemy worth mentioning this side of the North Anna river The rebel force reached Richmond just in time to prevent the capture by the forces from Fortress Monroe The work will not pass without stirring news from Richmond or the banks of the Pamunkey

NEW YORK May 11 —A dispatch from Hooker's head quarters of the 9th, states that all the wounded in our lines have been properly cared for the sick will be sent to Washington and the wounded will be sent to Aquia

E M STANTON Secretary of War

SEAMEN SUMMARILY DISMISSED BY HIS MASTER —Capt Reynolds in an expedition from Murfreesboro to Lebanon Tenn, a distance of twenty miles or more from the track of the armies, found matters very quiet and the people very largely Unionists He levied upon the horses and forage of the secessionists who were generally well known to the officers Among others, the following amusing incident is related as occurring at Lebanon

The army came to the residence of an active wealthy, influential rebel—one who had made himself very busy in procuring volunteers for the rebel army, and put to flight Unionists in his town neighbors by assisting the rebel agents to hunt down conscripts He looked rather astonished when an advance cavalry was followed off by his horses The quartermaster came next with his mules and the agents of his corps Then came his wagons and the commissary marched by in charge of the gentleman's extra fat cattle

Secesh in great alarm wanted to know if we were not going to pay him for his goods We are not paying money to any one at present bloody rebel but the quartermaster

Well then you will give me a receipt for them Certainly sir here are your vouchers already made out Secesh reads them, apparently well pleased, until he came to the unmistakable words "to be paid at the close of the war, upon proof of loyalty"

Well if that is the case, they may go to the devil said he and turning to the people of the house administered them a few oaths, ask for a pocket, as hint; then you, you get out

The Daily Oregonian.

THE MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

CHANGE OF TIME.—On and after Monday next the steamer Express will leave here for Oregon City on Mondays and Thursdays at seven o'clock A M and four P M on Tuesdays and Fridays at eleven A M, and on Wednesdays and Saturdays at eight A M Returning, will leave Oregon City on Mondays and Thursdays at eleven o'clock A M on Tuesdays and Fridays at seven A M and four P M, and on Wednesdays and Saturdays at two P M.

SHERBERT.—A jaunt down in the lower portion of the city at the present time is truly refreshing and invigorating The beautifully laid-out flower gardens and elegant residences present a fine appearance and afford a rich contrast to the ill conditioned streets Altogether, however that vicinity bears but little evidence of having been inundated, and but few traces of the overflow of last season remain We presume there is no city on the coast that can boast of more beautiful shrubbery than Portland, and it is the general remark of strangers. Our citizens take great pains to beautify their homes and render them lovely

ENGINE DRILL.—No 3 and 4 engine companies were out well manned last evening for drill. Their machines worked well Columbian 3's are making extensive preparations for their intended excursion to Dalles on Monday next. The different fire bells of the city will be rung at four o'clock on the morning of their departure, and no doubt many of our citizens will be up to give the "boys" a fair start. They will go up in fine style and be handsomely entertained and cared for by their Dalles friends

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of Mrs Van Fridagh, Millinery and Fancy Goods Establishment

NEW CITY ON THE COLUMBIA.—The Mountaineer says that a new town site, called Columbia, has been laid out at the mouth of the Umatilla, which is rapidly assuming the shape and features of a flourishing village Traders and other places are buying lots there, with the intention of putting up stores, and every thing looks like a serious intention to build a city. Its local advantages are stated to be very favorable for trade and business generally.

PRISONER ESCAPED.—Berryway, who murdered Gallagher, ran away from the Sheriff last week, at Canyon City, to avoid being hung by the miners on the day after his escape. He feigned sleep and thus induced the Sheriff to relax his vigilance, and really fell asleep, whereupon the prisoner contrived to slip him the slip. Efforts were made to capture him, but he is still at large

The great Duke of Wellington constantly asserted, that nothing was worse than a little army. There can be no success unless you are strong. This is true in trade as well as in war, for who cares to purchase from a little stock. Ransom, Hastings & Co, the great Clothing men of Lick House, Montgomery st., San Francisco, understand this, for they have a sufficient variety of the latest styles and best material to furnish everybody to his entire satisfaction. Go and see them when you visit the City, and you are sure to be well suited.

HAVE BEEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC SO LONG and found by the experience of many to be such reliable remedies for the cure of the various diseases for which they are recommended that it seems only necessary to direct attention to their merits to secure a preference in favor of them when wanted Yet a few words may not be amiss in calling the attention of the afflicted to the fact that these medicines are offered to the public as the best remedies that can be obtained for the cure of Coughs Colds Consumption Asthma Bronchitis Croup Whooping Cough Influenza Hoarseness Sore Throat Pain in the Side Breast or Lungs Liver Complaint Dyspepsia Indigestion Loss of Appetite Headache Dizziness Nervousness Sleeplessness Costiveness Inward Fevers Worms Female Complaints and all Nervous Affections

Electing a School Marm.

I allers told Sally Ann I never seed what they wanted to appoint me, Obadiah Smith, School Director for. What did I know about education, ginerally? To be sure I'd been to school in Batesville, every winter since I was ten years old, and cut up as many shines, and tuk as many floggings and got as much larning as the other boys, except Lawyer Morton and Squire Bliss—never had so much figure head as them fellers. As for grammar, I never did think it any great go, and as I told Sally Ann, what possessed the fools to elect me School Director, I couldn't see. Well, Sally Ann, says she: Now, Obed Smith, don't make a posky fool of yourself; I reckon you kin jest meet with the rest and hold up your head as big as any of 'em, and if you ain't as good a scholard as Tim Bates and Joel Barker it's a tarnal pity, that's all. Now, I always have done jest as Sally Ann said ever since we were married. Amazin' smart woman, Sally Ann is. If it hadn't been for her, I don't know as I'd hev got married to this blessed day. Ye see, she kept kinder hinting and hinting; telling what a long distance it was 'tween the two farms, and what amazin' sight of horse flesh might be saved, and how them lazy farm serrants was a wastin' my substance in riotous livin' til I jest got riled and up and axed her if she'd hev me. Sartin, says she, as cool as a cucumber,, and much obliged inter the bargain'. Well, as I was a sayin', seein' as how I was in for it, and was legally appinted School Director, I concluded as how I'd hev te serve. Things went purty smooth at first. The last teacher had been gone sometime, and the school-house shet up, and I'd jest begun for to think 'twant no great shakes to be School Director, after all—when up walks Tim Bates one day, and says he:—We calkerlate it's about time to open the school-house again; the Directors are a goin' to meet at four o'clock this afternoon to elect a teacher; now, be up to time, Obed, says he. I was struck all aback you'd better believe. My hair literally stood on end. Now, Tim, you're joking, says I. Honor bright, says he. But look here, Tim, says I, there's plenty of you without me. I don't keer a durn who you get for the pesky school, so jest go ahead without me. Nosir'ee, says he; every Director's got to be there, and Obed Smith among the rest, and off he started, whistling Yankee Doodle so loud that you never did see. I jest unhitched the hosses and started for hum.

Sally Ann, says I, its come—the day of judgment is come, and then I just bust out a laughin'. You're a fool, says she. You're another, says I—and I was jest ready for an all-fired row, when she said as sweet as honey, now Obed, jest finish up the chores and come into dinner, and don't go to getting tuckered out afore you go. For my part I wondered what gal's applied. I don't know none 'thout it's Sal Bates and Lib Wilkins, and I reckon I know as much as them critters, says she. Seems to me Belle Winthrop was saying some lady from the city wanted it—but lawsa-massa, what she'd want to come from Boston clean out to Batesville for, is more'n I can tell. To be sure, eighteen dollars a month is pretty good pay—more'n we've ever given afore, or will again, I reckon—and then she felt to thinking, and I went a tearing out of the house in a way that was a caution. Well, jest about four o'clock, I started for the old brick school house. Sally Ann, she'd bin a lecturing me till I was sonamost at my wits end. She's bin up in the garrit and brought down all the old books she could lay hold on and top of all was Webster's great thumping Dictionary.

There she'd been from eleven o'clock till four a hunting out questions for me to ax the school marm. No need of folks thinking you're a fool, if you are one, says she, kinder snappish. Now just ax her to spell Phthisic—that used to be the hardest word when I went to school, but I've been a looking for something harder and I've got it too. Here 'tis, "Metempsychosis," says she, that's a poser—and then I pronounced, and pronounced, and pronounced till I was in a perfect sweat. Now, I've written all the questions and answers down, so you'll know if she answers right or not. Says she, here's one of 'em, how high is the tower of Pisa, and then she gave me the paper. Well, as I was saying, at four o'clock I started. The clock was too fast, or I walked fast, or somethin', for when I got there—there want a living thing in sight, except a little rosy-cheeked girl a sitting on one of the benches as demure as could be. She kinder bowed as she seed me and says I, as perlite as could be: little girl, did you want anything particler—we're a going to have a school meetin' here this afternoon, and I reckon we wouldn't like any extra visitors. She blushed up red, and says she, with a little saucy twinkle in her eyes: I understood there was to be an examination of teachers for the Batesville school. I am one of the applicants, Miss Lester from Boston. Have I been misinformed? I blurted out an apology and was getting more flustrated than ever, when she just said as perlite as possible, that 'twant no manner of consequence, and began talking so pretty about the school, and the village, and the Secesshers down south, that it quite put me at ease, and I didn't much keer if the Directors didn't come at all, provided Sally Ann did not know I was having such a nice time a listening—when in come the whole possee, and she stopped off all at once and never said another word.

Squar Bliss and Lawyer Morton conducted the examination. Sal Bates and Deb Wilkins were there, but the little Boston lady quite took the shine off 'em. She was a pretty little thing with just the sweetest bonnet and cloak that I ever did see. She desired the school, she said, because she liked the country, and it was on a line of railroad. Then we axed her all manner of questions, and she answered as prompt and perlite as could be. Tim Bates got up as grand as possible, and says he, could you tell me how old Methuselah was, Miss? She stared at him kinder curious like, and says she, nine hundred and sixty nine, I believe, sir. Then came my turn, and my stars, if I wasn't flustrated you'd better believe. Ca-ca-can you spell Phthisic? says I, and she spelt it off beautifully. Nor for Sally Ann's word. I puzzled and puzzled over it. I couldn't stand there like a fool all day, so I just blurted out, Can you spell "stringy posies?" She just colored a little, and said she didn't quite understand. Lawyer Morton, he just snatched the paper out of my hands as mad like, and says he, "Metempsychosis, dear." How high is the Tower of Pison? says I. She bit her lip, and put her handkerchief to her face, and then says she, I'm afraid I don't quite comprehend. The Tower of Pisa, dear, said Lawyer Morton, giggling so he could hardly speak, and I just set down and wiped off the perspiration.—Then they axed her how old she might be.—About twenty, says she; and Tim Bats chuts out, I'm afraid you're too young, Miss. We've got a pesky lot of obstreperous boys here.—She was fond of the boys, she said, smiling, and as she ruled by love, she did not appehend trouble. Yes, but if you fall in love, says Tim, we'll lose our teacher, and that won't suit us no how. She colored up, and says she, turning to Squire Bliss, Explain to him, sir, if you please. Well, then we put it to vote. All in favor of Lucy Lester as teacher for Batesville say aye—and we all said aye, except Tim, who looked as mad as a hornet's nest, 'cause he wanted his cousin, Sal Bates, to get in. You have done finely, dear, says Lawyer Morton, as sweet as could be. Very much of a gentleman, Lawyer Morton is, though folks do say he's mighty fond of the girls. Then she came up to me, and says she, as purty as you please, When does my engagement with you commence?—Good Heavens! said I, I'm married, or else I'd like it fust rate. I, I never said nothin' bout no engagement. Would you believe it, she just sank down in a cheer and laughed as if she'd kill herself—and Squire Bliss and Lawyer Morton followed suit. You darned fool, says Tim, she means her engagement to teach school, and then we all roared together. Well, that was my first attempt at "letting a school marm." We've got her, and she's a pretty little thing—too pretty for Batesville, Sally Ann says. I was in hopes Sally Ann wouldn't hear of all the blunders I made up at the school house; but somehow or nuther everything leaks out in Batesville, and she's always a heer'n' me—she's a terrible hector, Sally Ann is—about my engagement with the school marm.

LEGAL.

U. S. INCOME TAX.

THE LAW CONTEMPLATES THAT EVERY ONE shall pay on all profits (over $600) derived from any source whatever. A person is allowed to deduct all legally assessed National, State and County Taxes, hired help, Rents, Drayage &c., necessary for carrying on business, but no farmer, mechanic, merchant, or any person, has a right to deduct his own labor as so much expense from his income.

The Income Tax is to be paid on the 1st day of the year commencing June 1st, 1862, so that for the six months December 31st, 1862, everybody should make up a record of their income gained or lost for that year. And as many sources of income, such as Dividends and Bank and Railroad Stocks, Insurance Stock, Savings Banks, interest, &c., often having already paid the Income Tax, are not again taxed. It therefore becomes necessary to have a clear record of the source of income, that there may be no dispute with the Assessor.

All corporations must deduct the three per centum before declaring their dividends.

For Example:

A man in business must make up the net profits of the business for the year, and pay the tax on the amount less $600.

A man may, outside of his business, spend all and even more than his profits in the business; nevertheless he must pay tax on all such business profits except the $600. And so with a salary, all over $600 must be taxed, though personal or family expenses consume it all.

The Income Tax for the year 1862 is assessable on the first day of May, 1863, and is due and payable on or before the 30th June, 1863. And any sum due and unpaid for thirty days after the 30th June, as aforesaid, and for ten days after demand by the Collector, five per centum will be added to the amount unpaid.

Each individual of any firm or partnership must make up his income separately.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

HERMFIELD, MASS., 20th Dec., 1858.

DR. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of those complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.

A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of Utica, N. Y., writes: "I know your PECTORAL myself and in my family ever since it was first introduced into this city, and I believe it the best medicine for its purposes now before the world. With a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five cents a bottle than do without it or take any other."

Croup, Whooping Cough, In

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Feb. 7, 18

AMOS LEE, Esq., MONTEAU, IA., writes, 24 Jan., 1861, that he had a tedious Influenza, which confined me in doors six weeks. I took many medicines without relief; finally tried your PECTORAL, by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs
